

OCOQUAN HEAD DECLARES PICKETS MUST OBEY RULES

Charges of inconsiderate treatment of the six militant suffragettes incarcerated at the Ocoquan workhouse made by friends were today denied by W. H. Whitaker, superintendent.

"The suffragettes are getting a little better treatment than most prisoners," said Mr. Whitaker. "I have permitted them regularly to use the same dishes, which are washed separately from the others. So far as setting aside any rules for their benefit is concerned, I cannot see why that should be done."

"The six women are thrown into contact with colored prisoners no more than other white prisoners. Whites and negroes sleep in separate quarters. In the sewing room, where white women are usually sent, negroes occupy one end of the long room, and whites the other.

Few Cases of Infection.
"While in the sewing room, the same general toilets are used. The dormitory toilets are used by all inmates of the dormitory."
"If it is found the prisoner has some disease, he is sent to the isolation ward of the hospital. There he remains until he is cured or discharged. During the seven years I have been in charge here there have been so few cases of infection from any source that the subject is negligible."

"There cannot, under the present layout of the buildings, be any privacy in dressing. Privacy of groups is inadvisable. If all women were of the type of the suffragettes, there could be no serious objection to letting them dress and undress in small groups."

"The food the suffragettes are getting is clean, wholesome, and well cooked. There is a paid supervisor of the kitchen."
Censored Mail and Telegraph.
"One bath a week is required of most prisoners. Others working in the kitchen and bake shops must bathe at least twice a week. A prisoner can bathe once or twice a day after or before work if desired. We rather encourage frequent bathing."

"Sugar is served with coffee and with hot tea. Enough to sweeten the beverage is put in the pot while it is being cooked."
"I have not given the suffragettes the scores of letters and telegrams which have been sent them because they contained unreasonable utterances," declared the superintendent. "They are permitted to write twice a month. Every letter they or any other prisoner sends out is read by me, personally. I am the censor."

"I consider myself the supreme ruler here. I take orders from the Commissioner."

SUFFRAGISTS LOOK FOR ARRESTS; HIRE COUNSEL

Anticipating arrest and conviction when they attempt "peacefully" to picket the White House at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, half a dozen militant suffragists have retained counsel to carry their case to the highest courts to establish the legality of their methods.

Attorney Matthew E. O'Brien has been retained. He will endeavor in behalf of the suffragettes to ascertain through the higher courts whether the pickets can continue their work.

Original plans called for a rally of suffragettes at noon today, but it was thought larger crowds could witness the affair if postponed until this afternoon.

MANY JEWS HOMELESS.

Cablegrams received at the State Department today contain the information that 80,000 Jews were among the 70,000 people made homeless by the devastating fire which swept Saloniki on August 18. Four banks, 5,000 dwellings, and the entire business section were destroyed by the flames. The State Department dispatches said no military damage was occasioned.

STAR AT GAYETY DENIES BURLESQUE LIFE IS "HOLLOW"

Denial that the life of the burlesque artist is "vain and hollow," that performers are "dissatisfied" and come to regret their connection with this field of entertainment, and that performers are employed on wages that leave nothing over living expenses, was made today by Ben Welch, head of his own show, which is playing at the Gayety Theater this week.

Mr. Welch has taken exception to V. E. Hill's cartoon, "Among Us Mortals," published in The Times on August 19, in which rehearsal scenes of a burlesque production were portrayed by the cartoonist.

"It is found the burlesque field a grave injustice when he charges that performers live a vain life," said Mr. Welch.

"If he will look at the stars in the comic opera and musical comedy field he will see that the great majority of them came from burlesque. This is unquestionably the best school for young performers."

"He must imagine that comedians are pessimistic and go around digging graves in their leisure moments. This is not true. They are a jolly set of men, as a rule. People in burlesque, like those in shop, store, or on the farm, have their troubles and sorrows. No path is free from these things."

Burlesque has improved. That is Mr. Welch's belief. He thinks it will continue to improve year after year.

Burlesque scenery is more extravagant this year than last, in his opinion, and costuming has taken on a more ambitious appearance. In short, he is inclined to believe that Cartoonist Hill's ideas about burlesque are all wrong.

WHEAT PRICE LIKELY TO BE $2 A BUSHEL

Food Administration Scouts Idea of Dollar Minimum.

Wheat prices set by the price-fixing committee now working with the food administration will be in the neighborhood of $2 a bushel, and the rumors of "dollar wheat," which have frightened the farmer and filled the humble consumer with hope, are groundless, according to an official of the food administration.

The committee, of which Dr. Harry A. Garfield is chairman, is meeting daily, and probably will make some announcement as to wheat prices next week.

While one group of men is working on the price of wheat, another group at the Federal Trade commission is investigating the price of anthracite coal, and soon will announce a maximum commission to be allowed dealers in selling to consumers. The recent investigation showed that profits of $1.70 to $5 a ton were not infrequent, and this rate is held by the commission to be excessive.

HORSE BITES BABY IN GO-CART.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Soon after Mrs. Mary Westerman had placed a go-cart containing her eight-month-old child, Joseph, alongside the curb in front of her house yesterday, John Markel came along with a horse and wagon and tied the animal to a hitching post beside the baby. In a moment the horse turned its head and bit deep into the child's cheek and nose. The mother refused to let the child be taken to a hospital.
